The USC Physical Therapy Alumni Association (USC PTAA)

Mission

The mission of the USC PTAA is to build social and professional relationships between the Division’s alumni and students that contribute to the advancement and excellence of physical therapy education, research and clinical practice. The objectives of the USC PTAA include: facilitating social networking between students, faculty and alumni; assisting with the fulfillment of continuing education needs of alumni; and actively supporting and promoting physical therapy education at USC.

Vision

Through dynamic leadership from alumni and students, the USC-PTAA will develop community and professional leaders who advance the tenets of the University, Division and profession of physical therapy.

The USC PTAA promotes the Division in its relationships with the physical therapy community at large. It provides an important link with practicing professionals, thus ensuring that the educational goals of the Division are closely related to the realities of physical therapy practice.

The USC Division of Biokinesiology and Physical Therapy

Currently ranked as the number-one academic program in physical therapy in the nation by US News and World Report, the USC Division of Biokinesiology and Physical Therapy (USC BKN & PT) has been a leader in the development of the physical therapy profession since its founding over 60 years ago. It was the second program in the nation to graduate physical therapists with a doctoral degree as the first professional degree, and continues to attract high-quality students to both the entry-level and Biokinesiology research programs. Chief among the Division’s strengths are the quality of the teaching, an innovative and diverse interdisciplinary research program, skilled and committed faculty, state-of-the-art facilities, a thriving faculty practice, and the Division’s excellent reputation.

The Value of Membership

The most important benefit of membership in the USC PTAA is the personal satisfaction we derive from participating in furthering the goal of excellence in physical therapy education at USC. Members receive a small gift from the Division, periodic newsletters and invitations to PT alumni functions. These include Homecoming, other annual and special social events, and continuing education offerings at a reduced cost.

Membership

Although membership to the USC PTAA is free, donations will be requested upon first enrollment and on a yearly basis.

Contributions from USC PTAA members provide a source of funds to meet special needs as they arise, providing assistance with the many scholarship, research, and facility projects that enrich physical therapy education at USC.
